Izaak Walton League of America

July 2020

The Izaak Walton League of America (IWLA) youth program teaches local youth how to safely handle firearms in a hunting environment. The main focus of the program is safety and education. When the group meets, the practices are lead by coaches who teach in various categories of shooting and hunter safety training. The members of the program practice and train all year to compete in the Youth Hunter Education Challenge (YHEC). This competition tests eight different categories including rifle, archery, muzzleloader, shotgun, orienteering, hunter safety exam, hunter safety trail and wildlife identification. The youth athletes better themselves and their communities everyday.

Keeping Up to Date

It's important to keep connected to each other during quarantine. Recently, Anthony Terselic was accepted into the Computer Aided Design Architecture program at the Career and Technology Center. He is hoping to have schools reopen in fall so he can participate in the program in person. Anthony has also done a lot of work maintaining his garden, growing many types of produce. Michael Anfang built his new room and is now refurbishing a veteran memorial building for his eagle scout project. Grant Lohr has been helping his family with gardening and landscaping, along with building a pool deck.

Author Notes

I changed this format to experiment in new categories. The newsletter will most likely consist of one article explaining a certain topic. These topics could consist of participate, coach, gun/equipment, IWLA events, YHEC events, and more. This change is to make the newsletter more sustainable.
